About Me

The interest to pick up a competitive sport in university made archery my choice for my Co-Curricular Activity. The mental strength needed to excel in this sport drives my desire to work hard and push myself to new limits.

My proudest moment was my SEA Games debut in 2005 where I was placed 11th in the individual elimination event. My 18-arrow score was also the best in the team for the competition.

As an athlete, I'm inspired by my Korean friend, Se Jin, who is a professional archer. She tells me that with strong faith in yourself, you can push yourself to greater heights.

About Me

I started out in archery when I was ten years old. We had a family outing to the Home Team NS country club. We were walking around and saw the archery range. So I asked my parents if I could try it out. I picked up the course and I have been shooting ever since then. I'm just a normal teenager but I also have something special in me – my passion for archery.

About Me

I picked up this sport in 1997 when it was introduced to me by a friend. Since then, it has always been my favourite hobby. I'm proud to be a part of Team Singapore. The never-say-die attitude as a team is something that inspires me. We know we can do it, no matter how strong the opponents are.

In my free time, I will spend time with my family and my kids. They are the most important part of my life besides archery.

About Me

I was not a natural sportsperson in primary and secondary school. However, when I got into tertiary education, I decided to join a Co-Curricular Activity that was both useful and simple for my below-average physical ability. With that, I joined archery and discovered my inherent talent for it.

My inspiration in archery is world-class Korean archer, Im Dong Hyun. In spite of being “half-blind”, he did not give up and challenged himself to be the best in what he does and he got it!

When I’m not training, I love to go out with my friends and try out all the best food in Singapore. My other interests are fishing and trekking.

About Me

I started archery in 2005 when I joined the newly formed archery club in Raffles Junior College. I am grateful to my family and fellow archers as they have been giving me great support in this sport over the years, which is why I have continued to pursue it to the best of my ability. I have just graduated with a major in Psychology from National University of Singapore, and am now doing my postgraduate diploma in Education. In my free time, I enjoy spending time with God, hanging out with friends or reading a good book over a cup of coffee.

The Singapore Spirit, to me, is a ‘little something’ in every Singaporean. This ‘something’ is displayed through interaction with people and friends of other nationalities. Through the interaction, I hope our unique Singapore Spirit can attract our foreign friends to know more about Singapore. I am confident that Team Singapore will display their true friendship during the SEA Games.

About Me

I learnt the sport of archery in 1993, when I was studying in the National University of Singapore. I remained an active archer from 1993 to 1996, but took a break from the sport after my graduation to concentrate on my work. I returned to the sport in 2008. I decided to try out for the national team in 2011, and I am now rewarded with the opportunity to represent Singapore in the 2011 SEA Games.

In terms of archery, I am inspired by the skill and professionalism displayed by the top Korean women archers. They constantly strive to beat their own world records through hard work and tenacity. On the personal side, I hope to complete the Snowman Trek, which is said to be the toughest trek in the world.

About Me

I came to archery late at the age of 33 but I love shooting and focusing. One day, I happened to pass by the Kebun Bahru Archery Course Panel and I simply signed up for a course with my friend, who is now also my personal coach.

When I'm not training, I enjoy swimming and spending time with my family and friends.

About Me

Archery is a recreational sport that I picked up at a local community club. Under the guidance of my coach, Rachel Sng, I was able to excel in the men's recurve bow. Archery has taught me to keep focus and concentration till the very last shot in what ever we do in our life.

About Me

I picked up this sport at the age of 12 after my school examinations. Inspired by books and the movie, “Lord of the Rings”, I decided to pick up a bow myself and give archery a shot. As time passed, I discovered a strong desire and passion to excel in this sport. I wanted to be nothing less than the best. I am extremely grateful to my coach of five years, Choi Mi Jin for her firm support and for bringing me to this level of sporting excellence.

About Me

I picked up archery in my first year at Ngee Ann Polytechnic. I could still remember very clearly the first time when I touched a bow was on 26 April 2006. I am proud to be given the opportunity to fly our country's flag in other countries and I will be standing proudly on the podium for Singapore.

In my journey as an athlete, I'm inspired by South Korean recurve archer, Park Sung Hyun. She was a world champion archer who won many international titles. She was also a gold medallist for the 2004 Athens Olympic and 2008 Beijing Olympic Games. Park Sung Hyun also holds a Full FITA world record of 1405 points out of 1440 points.

About Me

Our family sport used to be softball but all that took a 360-degree turn in 2006, when my father crossed paths with archery. And just like that, we traded in our bats for bows and it's been archery for the win, all the way.

My father is my key inspiration everyday. He's been my coach in both my life and my sport. He always fights for what is right and never gives in to fear, inspiring me to never give up a fight and to stand on that line confident and strong.

About Me

I picked up archery 11 years ago when a friend of mine (and teammate) Daniel Mok, taught me most of his skills. I got hooked onto this sport and bought myself a compound bow to shoot. I trained hard and improved fast. In two months, he brought me to my first overseas competition in Malaysia. I did not win any medals in that event but he gave me one of his medals as an encouragement. He is the one who encouraged me to go competitive and from that day onwards, I started my sporting career as an archer.

About Me

I picked up archery in 2007, while I was studying at the ITE College West (Clementi). Curiosity and interest drove me to take up this sport. With the help of my coaches, my skills were further honed. My achievements in this sport are what keep me inspired to constantly challenge my boundaries to become a better archer. I keep up my passion for this sport by watching Korean archers. It motivates me to train hard and not give up. And one day, I hope that I can achieve what I want to achieve. Besides schoolwork, I also spend time engaging in other sports that interest me - cue sports and swimming.
