About Me

My cousin introduced wakeboarding to me when I was 20, and I was hooked onto it ever since. The thrill of landing a new trick and accomplishing something you thought was impossible, has kept me in this sport for the past three years. Under my coach, Mr Suter Tan's guidance, I managed to progress considerably in the past three years, and I am extremely grateful for his patience and coaching.

I'm inspired by Lance Armstrong. His determination to continue doing what he loves despite the cancer diagnosis, is the prime example of living life to the fullest, and how one can still choose to fight on, even when the circumstances seem bleak.

About Me

I picked up water skiing many years ago but stopped. However, as my daughter started taking an interest in water skiing and competing, it was only natural that I started up again.

About Me

I started wakeboarding at the age of fifteen. I was in secondary three when Singapore's first cable ski park, Ski 360, opened up. Living at Marine Parade, I frequently passed by the lagoon whenever I went to East Coast Park for dinner. It was an unusual sport to me at the time and I wasn't too keen on trying it out as it appeared boring at the time. It wasn't till I was dragged down by my brother, that I would find myself going down every now and then to be a part of one of the most awesome sports ever created.

About Me

I started wakeboarding at a young age because of my parents. My mum is a previous SEA Games medallist and she persuaded me to give slalom skiing a try. Since then I have been skiing competitively in competitions both locally and overseas and made many new friends. I am grateful for the support from my parents as well as my sponsors.

About Me

My mother is an avid waterskier. At the age of three, I was put onto double skis to build water confidence. When I turned eight, I picked up wakeboarding because I had watched videos of people wakeboarding and doing incredible stunts and I wanted to be just like them. As soon as I learnt my first few tricks, I was itching to participate in competitions, just to see where I stood with other wakeboarders of my age.

When I was twelve I took part in my first international competition in Australia. From then, my love for the sport and competition grew. Over the years I have taken part in countless competitions and met a great number of people who share the same interest with me.

About Me

My mom's a waterskier, and before I turned three, she put me on skis as well. I switched to wakeboarding three years later when wakeboarding became more popular in Singapore. My brother wakeboards as well, so it became a family sport. My mom has always been very supportive and she has taught me not to give up just because the path isn't easy.
